Thank you to all of my students for a wonderful year of music making. Your focus and diligent practicing have been rewarding to all and interacting with each of you on a weekly basis has been a great pleasure. You bring intelligent questions, curiosity, patience, to each lesson, and I appreciate your willingness to include this rare thing of "classical music" in your busy 21st century world.

Thank you also to all of "my parents" who are so integral to this long and steady process of experiencing the art of music through learning an instrument. You provide the necessities—the quality instrument, the home environment and encouragement for daily practice, the financial support, and now again the transportation that was not needed during COVID. I am grateful for all of that, and for being able to be part of your child's life and musical development.
