Welcome
NEW ENGLAND CONSERVATORY
Looking for Higher Ground: Music by Refugees and Emigrés

Kenneth Radnofsky
saxophone

with guest artist
Yoshiko Kline, piano

Monday, November 28, 2022
7:30 p.m.
NEC’s Jordan Hall
PROGRAM

Hugo Kauder
(1888–1972)
Improvisation (1946)
Dedicated to Louis Speyer

Ursula Mamlok
(1923–2016)
Rückblick (2002)
Premiered by Marshall Taylor and Samuel Hsu
  Hurried
  Elegy: Calm
  With energy
  Lament: Mournful

Jakov Jakoulov
(b. 1958)
L’envoi (Dedication) (1999)
Written for Ken Radnofsky and premiered by Ken Radnofsky and Jakov Jakoulov

Paul Ben-Haim
(1897–1984)
Three Songs Without Words (1952)
Arioso
  Ballad
  Sephardic Melody

Brief Intermission

Sergei Rachmaninoff
(1873–1943)
Sonata in G Minor, op. 19 (1901)
Written for Anatolly Brandukov and premiered by Brandukov and Rachmaninoff
  Lento – Allegro moderato
  Allegro scherzando
  Andante
  Allegro mosso
Looking for higher ground—a brighter future—safety for family—in the cases of tonight’s composers, a chance to continue life and pursue artistry.

For Hugo Kauder, Paul Ben-Haim and Ursula Mamlok it was escaping Nazi Germany. Kauder went to the US; Mamlok to Ecuador (and also soon thereafter New York) and a long career at Manhattan School; Paul Ben-Haim (born Frankenburger) settled in Israel in a successful career as arguably its finest composer; Rachmaninoff managed to leave post-Bolshevik Revolution Russia and make his way with his family through Sweden—after his house was burned and his piano thrown out the window—never to return; while Jakov Jakoulov left a failing Soviet Union for Israel and, ultimately, Boston.

While many of my concerts over the years honor those such as Ullmann and Schulhoff (not to mention millions never to be heard) who perished, with lives and potential cut short in these same times, this concert simply recognizes a few who were able to escape or make their way through the troubled environment, creating works of beauty, in an ultimately safer place. They were the lucky ones. And we shall not forget. —Ken Radnofsky

Kauder  Improvisation

Improvisation was written for the English hornist of the Boston Symphony, Louis Speyer, and predates the Sonata, developed from a visit with Speyer in Watertown, Ma in 1946. Thanks to William Wielgus for this. For more info: https://www.google.com/search?q=hugo+kauder+society&ie=UTF-8&oe=UTF-8&hl=en-us&client=safari

(Wikipedia)

Hugo Kauder was born in Tovačov. His father, Ignaz Kaude, was Oberlehrer (principal) of the local German language primary school. As a boy, Hugo Kauder had violin lessons with the local teacher, who eventually dismissed him when he had “taught him everything he knew.” These lessons were his only formal training in music. In 1905, Kauder moved to Vienna to study engineering but often skipped school with classmate Egon Lustgarten to study scores in the Imperial Court Library. Of particular interest to him were several volumes of Denkmäler der Tonkunst in Österreich (Monuments of Music in Austria), mainly works of Flemish composers of the 15th and 16th centuries.

From 1911 to 1917, Kauder played violin in the Wiener Tonkuenstler Orchester under such conductors as Ferdinand Loewe, Franz Schalk, Arthur Nikisch, and Richard Strauss. There he began a lifelong friendship with Dutch horn player Willem Valkenier (1887–1986), inspiring his numerous horn compositions. From 1917 to 1922, Kauder was the violist of the Gottesmann Quartet.

In 1919, he met poet and philosopher Rudolph Pannwitz. Though he could not play an instrument, Pannwitz composed settings of classic poems, following his idea—quite unconventional at the time—that composers should find and reveal the music latent in texts, rather than creating the musical setting at will. Kauder adopted and elaborated this approach to vocal music and regarded Pannwitz as a lifelong mentor.

In 1923 Kauder married the linguist, archeologist, and bible scholar Helene Guttman (1898–1949), a cousin of his study companion Egon Lustgarten.

For the rest of his life, in Vienna and later in New York City, Kauder was self-employed as a composer and teacher of violin, music theory, and composition. As part of his efforts to bring his music to life, he conducted a chorus and a chamber ensemble of students and friends (including his son Otto) who studied and performed the classics as well as his own compositions.

Notable musicians who appreciated and performed Kauder’s music in Vienna before 1938 and to some extent after 1945 included the Gottesmann Quartet, Sedlak-Winkler, Rosé Quartet, and the Kolbe string quartet; the conductors Josef Mertin, Viktor Bermeiser, Siegmund Levarie, Karl Ristenpart, and Alexander Zemlinsky; pianist Adolf Baller, hornist Ernst Paul, and oboist Alexander Wunderer.

Mamlok Rückblick
A wonderful Mamlok interview mentions Gunther Schuller as a great inspiration and supporter at a crucial time. See: http://www.ex-tempore.org/mamlok.html

From her publisher
The Shoa (Holocaust) never was a theme in the works of Ursula Mamlok—with the exception of Rückblick for saxophone and piano which she wrote in 2002 on commission by Temple University in memory of Kristallnacht. The contrast between slow and fast movements is much more elaborate than in her other works from that period, with the fast movements appearing somewhat driven while the piano part for a few moments adopts an otherwise unknown severity. Near the end of the third movement, cantabile and fleeting gestures are suddenly pushed toward each other. The first fast movement arises from the destruction of attempted cantability. The Elegy (second movement) dies away with a four-fold reminder of its initial motif, the last attempt remaining fragmentary. The fourth movement, Lament, concludes with a figure that returns to its beginning.

Jakoulov L’envoi (Dedication)
L’envoi ("Dedication") was written as a tribute to Leonard Bernstein’s 80 Anniversary in 1999. This miniature is written as a constant alternation and synthesis of two different spheres of music. In the first one I quote the beginning intonation of the last movement of Mahler’s Ninth Symphony. It is well known that Bernstein admired Mahler and was one of the greatest interpreters of his music. In the second sphere I quote some popular themes of Bernstein’s West Side Story. The piece then ends with Bernstein’s signature, in a collection of four notes B, E, Eb, A; a phonetic representation of the name Bernstein.

Kenneth Radnofsky gave a world premiere of this piece in 1999 at the Rabb Auditorium of Boston Public Library and recorded it on the Boston Records label.

— Jakov Jakoulov
Composer and pianist Jakov Jakoulov is the author of four ballets, twelve instrumental concertos, music for over 20 theatrical, TV and cinema productions and numerous symphonic, chamber and choral works.

In recent years Jakoulov’s music – “powerful and richly textured” (The New York Times) has been commissioned and presented by Verbier Music Festival in Switzerland, Boston Symphony’s Tanglewood Contemporary Music Festival, international arts festivals in Edinburgh (Scotland), Avignon (France), and Cortona (Italy); “Kammerspille” (Munich, Germany), “Lilla” (Helsinki, Finland), New European Strings Orchestra (London, UK), Dallas Symphony Orchestra, Fort Worth Symphony, Juilliard Orchestra, Armenian National Symphony Orchestra, and Jerusalem Symphony Orchestra, among others.

Jakov Jakoulov received grants from Worldwide Concurrent Premieres Commissioning Fund, American Composers Forum, Erasmus Grant for Professionals from University of Viterbo in Italy.

Mr. Jakoulov is a Doctor of Musical Arts of Boston University, recipient of nine annual awards of the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, Eliot Norton Award of Boston Theater Critics Association, nominee for the 1993 award in music composition by the American Academy of Arts and Letters and an Elected Member of National Honor Music Society.

Jakovoulov’s music has been recorded and published by Omnibus Classics (England), Orfeo (Germany), Naxos, Artona and Boston Records (US).

Ben-Haim  Three Songs Without Words
From Israeli Music Institute:

Ben-Haim conceived his Three Songs Without Words as vocalises for high voice and piano but it later occurred to him that the songs lent themselves as well to instrumental performances; the various for solo instrument and piano are the composer’s own arrangements of the vocalises. The composer explains the three parts of this little Suite as "tone-picture of a oriental mood", and he adds that "whoever's imagination needs additional prompting may think that the long-breathed melodies of the Arioso were inspired by the mood of a summer day's pitiless heat in the bare Judean Hills, while the Ballad pictures the monotonous babbling of an oriental storyteller; the last song is based on a traditional folk tune of Sephardic-Jewish origin – a veritable pearl which I have only given a setting". Regarding the instrumental performances, the composer has said that "an instrumentalist playing the Three Songs should renounce all tendencies of virtuoso brilliance in favour of a purely melodic expression".

For more information on Paul Ben-Haim please read this article by Joshua Jacobson:
Rachmaninoff  Sonata in G Minor, op. 19

So much has written of Rachmaninoff, but I found an interesting reference below. He had a strong Boston connection and in fact had been offered the position of Music Director of Boston Symphony. Full Wikipedia article is available at: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Sergei_Rachmaninoff

Excerpt:

…For two seasons between 1911 and 1913, Rachmaninoff was appointed permanent conductor of the Philharmonic Society of Moscow; he helped raise its profile and increase audience numbers and receipts. In 1912, Rachmaninoff left the IRMS when he learned that a musician in an administrative post was dismissed for being Jewish.

About the Performers

Kenneth Radnofsky has appeared as soloist with leading orchestras including the Leipzig Gewandhaus, New York Philharmonic under Kurt Masur, Jerusalem Symphony with Gisele Ben-Dor and Boston Pops with John Williams. Radnofsky premiered Gunther Schuller’s Concerto with the Pittsburgh Symphony (composer conducting), and David Amram’s Concerto with the Portland Symphony, under Bruce Hangen. The 100 plus solo works he has commissioned also include those by Netzer, Trester, Colgrass, Harbison, Martino, Gandolfi, Olivero, Horvit, Fatas, Yannatos, Perker, Jakoulov, Schwartz, Yang and Bell, to name a few. He teaches world-wide and helped establish saxophone programs in Taiwan with Shyen Lee, and in Venezuela with Claudio Dioguardi. He is Professor of Saxophone and Chamber Music at New England Conservatory, President of the Boston Woodwind Society, Founder of World-Wide Concurrent Premieres and Commissioning Fund, a founding board member of Gunther Schuller Society with John Heiss and Charles Peltz, co-founder of the Amram Ensemble, is a Selmer Artist, and also teaches at Boston University. He studied with Joseph Allard, Jeffrey Lerner and Duncan Hale. www.KenRadnofsky.com

Yoshiko Kline performs as recitalist, soloist, and chamber musician throughout Asia and North America. Recent travels include a tour of Vancouver, Calgary, Guangzhou and Shenzhen China, with saxophonist Kenneth Radnofsky, featuring the music of David Amram. Yoshiko’s performances are reported as “carefully colored and musically refined … with a sensitive ear, relating sound to musical expression… Her remarkably unique interpretations were the charm of her performance…”

Since debuting in Tokyo, she’s appeared in the Steinway Concert Hall in China, Boston’s Jordan Hall, Museum of Fine Arts, and Gardner Museum; Tanglewood and numerous festivals across the country. Live performances have been broadcast from radio stations WGBH & WMNB and Aspen, CO Radio KAJX. In addition to classical interests, she excels as a contemporary artist performing and premiering new works for numerous emerging composers, artists, and ensembles. Recent CD releases include Jon Meets Yoshiko by Jon Appleton; Œuvres Pour piano à 4 mains by Emile
Jaques-Dalcroze, and Divergent Reflections, contemporary music for saxophone and piano.

Yoshiko teaches at The Winsor School, Rivers School Conservatory, and Winchester Community Music School. Yoshiko received her BM at Toho-Gakuen Conservatory of Music and MM, with honors, at New England Conservatory. Her principal teachers have included Gabriel Chodos, Yoriko Takahashi, and Tamiko Ishimoto.

Upcoming Concerts at NEC
Visit necmusic.edu for complete and updated concert and ticketing information

NEC SAXOPHONE ENSEMBLE, Kenneth Radnofsky, director
Works by Higdon, Vivaldi, Ravel, Bach, and Milhaud
Tuesday, November 29, 2022 at 7:30 p.m., Jordan Hall

UNDERGRADUATE OPERA STUDIO: Opera Scenes, Michael Meraw, director
Opera scenes performed by the members of the Undergraduate Opera Studio
Friday & Saturday, December 2 & 3, 2022 at 8:00 p.m.,
Plimpton Shattuck Black Box Theatre

CHAMBER MUSIC GALA
Sunday, December 4, 2022 at 8:00 p.m., Jordan Hall

FIRST MONDAY IN JORDAN HALL, Laurence Lesser, artistic director
All-French program: Ravel Chansons madécasses; Dutilleux Ainsi la nuit;
Fauré Quartet No. 2 in G Minor, op. 45
Monday, December 5, 2022 at 7:30 p.m., Jordan Hall

TUESDAY NIGHT NEW MUSIC
New music by NEC student composers, performed by their peers
Tuesday, December 6, 2022 at 8:00 p.m., Williams Hall

LIEDERABEND LXIII: “Wolf and Mörike”
The program will comprise a selection of songs from Wolf’s masterpiece,
The Mörike Songbook
Wednesday, December 7, 2022 at 6:00 p.m., Williams Hall

NEC JAZZ ORCHESTRA: “Crossing the Boundaries” - Ken Schaphorst, conductor
Special guest clarinetist Don Byron, the NEC Jazz Orchestra and CMA students soloists perform works ranging from Schaphorst’s Film Noir interpretations, music inspired by diverse global and improvisational traditions, a tribute to George Russell, and compositions/arrangements by Anthony Braxton, Melba Liston, Randy Weston, and others
Thursday, December 8, 2022 at 7:30 p.m., Jordan Hall
Support the musical journeys of NEC students!
Contributions to The NEC Fund directly support the musical journeys of our extraordinarily talented NEC students and help keep our concerts free. From student scholarships and faculty support to exceptional student resources and learning opportunities, your gift makes the unparalleled NEC experience possible. Learn more at necmusic.edu/give.

Food and drink are not allowed in the concert hall, and photography and audio or video recording are prohibited. Assistive listening devices are available for all Jordan Hall concerts; contact the head usher or house manager on duty or inquire at the Coat Room. Latecomers will be seated at the discretion of management.

Stay Connected

necmusic.edu/tonight