Music Director, Youth Philharmonic Orchestra

A rising star among his generation of Latin American conductors, Juliano Aniceto is known for his versatile musical depth and passionate stage presence. He serves as Director of Orchestras at the New England Conservatory Preparatory, Conductor of the Youth Philharmonic Orchestra, and Artist-in-Residence at the Peabody Institute of Johns Hopkins University, where he is currently pursuing a doctoral degree under the mentorship of conductor Marin Alsop. Juliano also holds the position of assistant and cover conductor for the Ravinia Festival, the summer home of the Chicago Symphony Orchestra.

Equally devoted to opera and symphonic music, Aniceto has conducted musical theater, operatic works, film scores, and symphonic music. He has appeared as a guest conductor with such distinguished organizations in the United States and South America as the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra, Chicago Sinfonietta, São Paulo State Youth Orchestra, São Pedro Opera House, Peabody Symphony, Peabody Concert Orchestra, and East Carolina University Symphony Orchestra, among others. Juliano collaborated with Marin Alsop, serving as the assistant conductor for the American Composers Orchestra concert at Carnegie Hall in 2021. In addition, he contributed to the idealization of the Amazon Concert, performed by Marin Alsop and the São Paulo Symphony at Carnegie Hall in 2022. Juliano Aniceto was also the Freeman Conducting Fellow with the Chicago Sinfonietta, under the mentorship of Mei-Ann Chen.

A champion of music education and its power to connect people of all ages and backgrounds, as well as foster growth and self-confidence, Juliano's artistic vision emphasizes building personal connections through music-making. Mr. Aniceto served as Music Director of the Peabody Youth Orchestra, Assistant Conductor Teaching Fellow at the Peabody Institute, and conductor/co-founder of Old Bay New Music, the resident contemporary music ensemble at the Peabody Institute. Juliano is committed to projects that engage diverse communities and reimagine symphonic works through innovative artistic programming. Throughout his career, Maestro Aniceto has worked in social music projects, including serving as Music Director of Social Action by Music of Brazil and as a guest conductor for São Paulo's Guri Santa Marcelina Social Program, the city's central program of social inclusion through music education.

Born in Brazil, Juliano Aniceto began his musical studies at age eleven through a social project in Rio de Janeiro. In addition to his current conducting positions and guest conductor engagements, Mr. Aniceto has served as Guest Assistant Conductor for the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra and Richmond Symphony Orchestra, Music Director for East Carolina University Opera Theatre, Assistant Conductor for the East Carolina University Symphony Orchestra, and both Assistant Conductor and Choir Director at São Pedro Opera House (Brazil), as well as Assistant Conductor for the São Paulo State Youth Orchestra (Brazil).
