Peter Jarvis

Music Director, String Training Orchestras

Peter Jarvis, a native of Canada, began his career as a member of Museaus, one of Canada's premier touring string quartets, featured numerous times on CBC radio and in recordings. He was the principal second violin of the Lethbridge Symphony Orchestra and the Southern Alberta Chamber Orchestra, appearing annually as a violin soloist.

As Director of the University of Lethbridge Conservatory of Music, he taught violin and conducted the Conservatory Chamber Orchestra. He continued his performing and teaching career in Ithaca, N.Y., where he was concertmaster of the Rochester Bach Festival Orchestra and assistant concertmaster of the Cayuga Chamber Orchestra.

In 1994, Peter Jarvis moved to Boston with Reuning & Son and entered the Boston music community as a freelance player, appearing with the Cambridge Chamber Players, Andover Chamber Orchestra, and as concertmaster of Symphony by the Sea. An enthusiastic educator, he coaches chamber music at summer camps and the NEC Preparatory School. In 2011, he was awarded the NEC Jean Stackhouse Award for excellence in teaching. He is currently the conductor of the String Training Orchestras and the NEC String Chamber Orchestra.
